Non-specific Company Info

The Griffin family's entrepreneurial legacy in Oklahoma dates back to the early 20th century, marked by significant contributions to both the food industry and the media landscape of the state.

Griffin Family Roots and Business Ventures:

In 1908, brothers John T. and Charles M. Griffin established the Griffin Grocery Company in McAlester, Oklahoma. The company was officially incorporated under Oklahoma law in 1911. Following Charles's death in 1915, John Griffin took the helm and began manufacturing products, starting with coffee in 1917. In 1923, he constructed a three-story building in Muskogee to house administrative operations, a warehouse, and a processing plant. The company's top-selling product, Griffin's Waffle Syrup, debuted in 1930.

John Toole Griffin, after serving in World War II, succeeded his father as president and chairman of the board of the family's business in 1944.

Transition into Media:

Griffin Media and Griffin Foods are both integral parts of the Griffin family's business ventures in Oklahoma. Griffin Media, formerly known as Griffin Communications, is a media company based in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, owning television and radio stations across the state. Griffin Foods, located in Muskogee, Oklahoma, is a fourth-generation, minority-owned company with over 112 years of history, specializing in products like syrups, mustards, molasses, and vanilla.

Both companies operate under the umbrella of the Griffin Holding Company, indicating a shared ownership structure.

The Griffin family's foray into the media industry began in the early 1930s when J.T. Griffin became fascinated by radio technology. He first launched a radio station in Tulsa, KTUL, a CBS affiliate, and then purchased a second radio station in Oklahoma City, KOMA.

In 1951, the family extended their business into television broadcasting by establishing Griffin Media, formerly known as Griffin Communications. The company launched its first television station, KWTB-DT (Channel 9), in Oklahoma City in 1953. Over the years, Griffin Media expanded its media presence, acquiring and launching additional television and radio stations across Oklahoma.

Griffin Media, formerly known as Griffin Communications, is a privately held media company based in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Founded on September 5, 1951, by John Toole Griffin and James C. "Jimmy" Leake, it began as a subsidiary of Muskogee-based Griffin Foods, known for producing pancake and waffle syrups and other food products.

News on 6 (Tulsa) Specific Company Info

KOTV-DT, branded as "News On 6," holds the distinction of being Tulsa's first television station, with a rich history that mirrors the evolution of broadcasting in Oklahoma.

Founding and Early Years:

KOTV commenced test transmissions on October 15, 1949, and officially began regular broadcasts on October 22, 1949. At its inception, the station was among only 90 television stations in the United States and boasted the industry's largest studio, located in a former International Harvester dealership garage at 3rd and Frankfort in downtown Tulsa. The inaugural broadcast featured celebrities like Patti Page and then-Governor Roy Turner.

Network Affiliations:

Initially, KOTV served as a primary affiliate of the CBS Television Network, while also carrying programming from NBC, ABC, and the DuMont Television Network. This multi-network affiliation was common during the early days of television when the number of stations was limited.

Currently, KOTV-DT, branded as "News On 6," is a CBS-affiliated television station serving the Tulsa, Oklahoma market. Operating on virtual channel 6 and UHF digital channel 26, it is owned by Griffin Media, alongside sister station KQCW-DT (channel 19), a CW affiliate.

Technological Advancements:

Throughout its history, KOTV has been at the forefront of adopting new broadcasting technologies. In January 2013, the station relocated from its longtime headquarters at 3rd and Frankfort to a state-of-the-art media center in the heart of downtown Tulsa, enhancing its production capabilities and viewer experience.

Community Engagement and Milestones:

Over the decades, News On 6 has been deeply embedded in the Tulsa community, providing comprehensive news coverage and participating in various local events. The station celebrated its 75th anniversary in 2024, reflecting on its journey from the early days of television to its current status as a leading news provider, including a groundbreaking and well-received 75th Anniversary special.

As a longstanding news outlet in Tulsa, News On 6 remains committed to delivering timely and relevant news, weather, and sports coverage. Its integration of digital platforms and active social media presence ensures that it meets the needs of a diverse and evolving audience, maintaining its role as a trusted source of information in the region.

Archival Preservation:

The history of KOTV is meticulously documented in the archives of the Tulsa Historical Society, preserving its legacy and contributions to the region's media landscape.

As KOTV-DT continues to evolve, it remains committed to delivering quality news and programming to the residents of Tulsa and the surrounding areas, upholding a tradition of excellence that has spanned over seven decades.
